News Around Town

I liked this one:

"Well, Johnny," the father remarked at suppertime, "did you do your good deed today?"

"Yup. Today I did two good deeds. I went over to see Aunt Lucy and she was glad. Then I came home, and she was glad again."

Mrs. Frances Cheatham and Miss Laura Mottley will leave Sunday by train for Montreal, Canada, where they will sail on Tuesday for Scotland. They plan to return the later part of August. They will go across on the SS Emperor of Scotland.

Congratulations to Dr. Havilah Babcock, native of Appomattox, now of the University of South Carolina at Columbia. The University Annual this session was dedicated to him.

Warren C. Martin, of San Diego, California, arrived Wednesday by plane for a 30-day vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Graydon Martin.

Congratulations to Miss Grace McCain, of Livingston, Alabama, whose picture recently appeared in The Birmingham News, being listed as one of the top three graduates at Judson College. Miss McCain was winner of both the Judson Scholarship Cup and the Sullivan Award for good character. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adfield McCain, of Livingston, who formerly lived here.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Robinson are in Richmond, where Mr. Robinson is attending the Virginia State Funeral Directors' Conference held at the John Marshall Hotel. Mr. Robinson is a member of the credentials committee.

Congratulations are in order for Dr. Aubrey Keesee, to whom the A. H. S. Annual was dedicated this year.

The Appomattox Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, will have a picnic tomorrow evening, at the home of Mrs. A. J. Zastrow, at Spout Spring.

Mrs. Ella Anderson, Home Demonstration Agent, left today for Fayetteville, Arkansas, where she will attend the Southern Regional Extension School through July 12.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Poe and sons, Buddy and Richard, and Miss Madelyn Ivall left today for a two week vacation in Florida. They plan to visit Mr. and Mrs. James A. Beaty Jr. and family, of Winter Park, Florida, and spend a week at Graydon Beach at Panama City. (Father Darkleaf and I once spent a week at Panama City, and so we know the Poe vacationeers will have a lovely time. Gulf fishing is wonderful there: if the Red Snappers are biting. This part of Florida has built up rapidly in recent years).

Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Maddox, Mr. Charles Case, Mrs. Mary Case, Miss Peggy Carwile and Mrs. D. W. Carwile, all of Lynchburg; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Malmar, of Orange; Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Almond and children, Tacey, Howard and Billy, of Roanoke; Mr. and Mrs. Woody Lee and children, of Rustburg; Mr. and Mrs. Irven Almond, of Richmond, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Almond. Mr. and Mrs. Almond and their guests enjoyed a picnic supper at Holliday Lake Saturday evening.

Miss Dabney Williams has returned to her home in Brookneal, after a visit with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lurkey, while her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Douglass Williams, Jr., were in New York. Sue Williams accompanied their daughter, Eliza Williams, to New York, where she sailed on Monday for two months abroad.

Congratulations are in order to Richard F. Burks, III, of Lynchburg, who was named to the board of directors of the Association of Virginia Insurance Agents, during the 59th annual convention in Roanoke this week. He is the son of Division Superintendent and Mrs. J. A. Burks of this place.

Mrs. D. E. Caldwell, Jr. was hostess to the Tuesday Bridge Club this week. Mrs. Calvin Robinson was awarded the high score prize, and Mrs. W. E. Hancock was awarded the consolation prize.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover E. Smith and daughter, Judy, are spending this week on the Eastern Shore, staying at The Whispering Pines. Mr. Smith is on a business trip

Thanks to my brother-in-law, G. L. Doss for the first garden rip: tomato we have seen here this season. He gave me a nice tomato this morning. Any others with garden ripe tomatoes?

Also, thanks to Mr. J. H. Tolley for some splendid cabbage and beets from his garden. He is one of our top Appomattox gardeners. We recommend seeing him this summer for nice vegetables.

COUNTY FFA MEMBERS HONORED THIS WEEK

Blacksburg, June 17.- Tonight was "State Farmer" night at the first session of the thirty-first annual convention of the Virginia Association, Future Farmers of America, being held this week at Virginia Tech. One hundred and fifty-seven of Virginia's top high school farm youth were elected to receive the "State Farmer" key, the highest honor the State Association confers upon its members in recognition of their farming accomplishments as well as other high school and community activities.

The Virginia association has 187 FFA chapters with a paid-up active membership of 7,944. The number of "State Farmer" degrees, that may be conferred any one year is limited to two per cent by constitutional provision.

In addition to the honors conferred upon the active members, 16 Virginia adults were elected honorary membership in recognition of their contributions to Virginia's farm youth. Both the active and honorary degrees will be conferred in a special ceremony at the Wednesday night session.

The list of those elected from the active membership included the following from Appomattox:

Fred Madison Caldwell, Frank Inge, William Richard Kraatz.

Backaches Can Be Caused by Many Bad Posture Habits

MINNEAPOLIS—Does your back ache? If so, don't feel too badly about it. You are not alone.

Orthopedic physicians report that close to 50 per cent of their cases consist of the enormous assortment of backaches to which humanity is subject.

Most back troubles, even the disabling ones, come from things people do to themselves; only a minority are the result of outside causes.

By far the number one cause of back trouble is posture—faulty posture while standing, sitting, sleeping, working, lifting, driving. In fact, the posture habits of most Americans are pretty terrible; if right posture habits were drilled into all school children it would save an enormous amount of disability in later life, for most back troubles occur in men and women over 40.

Posture is so much more important than most people realize because the human spine is a pretty weak piece of engineering. It is a makeshift adaptation forced by that odd human habit of going around on two feet instead of on all fours. To hold the trunk upright the spine has to form an S-curve, which even a freshman engineering student will tell you is a pretty weak set-up. Postures which exaggerate the "S" curve invite strain and pain.

Alien Physicians Training in U. S.

CHICAGO — More than 6,000 foreign physicians are in the United States this year to complete their professional training as interns or residents, while more than 1,700 Americans are studying at foreign medical schools.

A survey of foreign physicians in the U. S. was made by the Institute of International Education and the American Medical Association.

The study showed that 1,730 Americans are studying in 26 different countries. Switzerland, Italy, Canada, Netherlands and Belgium each have more than 100 American students. The University of Bologna (Italy) has the largest number, 243 American medical students.

The 6,033 foreign physicians in the U. S. are training in 764 hospitals. This is almost a thousand more than the 5,036 reported in 1954-55. Approximately 47 per cent first came here this year.

Of the group, 1,859 are interns and 4,174 are residents; 86.6 per cent are men and 13.4 are women. They are distributed among all but four of the states. Only Idaho, Nevada, New Mexico and Wyoming have no foreign physicians in training.

Marriage Now at Peak Of Popularity in U. S.

NEW YORK — Marriage as a way of life, is at peak popularity among American men. In number, American husbands have reached a record high, totaling 39,000,000 in the civilian population alone.

The typical American nowadays marries at a relatively early age, establishes his own household soon after marriage, and keeps his nose to the grindstone to the extent that he bears responsibility for raising a family throughout most of his working life. About 95 per cent of all married men under age 65 are gainfully employed.

These facts are derived from a statistical profile of the American husband using largely data from the Bureau of the Census. Other details: Over one-quarter of the present-day husbands are under 35 years of age, and an additional fourth are in the 35 to 44 age bracket. At the same time, however, the numbers of ages 65 and over is close to 4,400,000 — about 11 per cent of the total—and is growing rapidly.

Four-fifths of the families where the husband is in the age range of 25 to 34 have at least one child, and nearly one-quarter have three or more children.

Fossil Remains Turn Up in Wyoming Valley

WASHINGTON — An isolated Wyoming valley has yielded a considerable collection of fossil remains of archaic mammals of about 60 million years ago, animals only remotely related to those living today. The fossils from this locality, known as the Bison Basin, first discovered four years ago, have been described by Dr. C. Lewis Gazin, curator of vertebrate paleontology at the Smithsonian Institution, who had a major part in collecting them.

The creatures lived during the Tiffanian epoch, next to last subdivision of Paleocene geologic time —a period that lasted approximately 20 million years but which was just the start of the "Age of Mammals." The Paleocene was the time when mammals were coming up as the dominant animals on earth and the importance of the dinosaurs had just passed.

Insure Your Place Before the Fire

After a fire, it's too late to check your insurance coverage. Too often a policy in force for years falls far short in realizing building replacement costs.

Increases in the cost of labor and materials have upped the cost of new structures and the relative intrinsic value of the old.

Fire insurance policies should be reviewed periodically to make sure they reflect present building worth and that they include additions, improvements and remodeling investments.

If you should have a fire loss, it is desirable to have a detailed inventory of building contents and an approximation of item worth or value. This can also be used as a basis for the amount of insurance coverage.

Such an inventory of property often proves amazing to the owner when he sees the total value of his accumulations. Some have been known to start worrying about their tax decalrations.

Sprinkle Garden Well For Good Plant Growth

When you sprinkle or irrigate your garden, be sure to do a good job.

Frequent light sprinkling or irrigation favors shallow root development and much moisture is lost through evaporation. When you apply water to your garden, soak the soil thoroughly and don't water it again until it shows signs of becoming dry.

Frequency of watering will vary with the soil type. Light sandy soils generally need a weekly irrigation. Heavier soils may need irrigating only every 10 to 14 days. During the early stages of growth, however, irrigating every three or four days may be necessary to maintain an adequate supply of moisture in the top part of the plant bed. Frequent watering at this state also keeps heavy soils from baking and cracking severely and insures a more uniform stand.

Fertilize Blue Grass Lawns

Blue grass lawns will become more dense and will more readily compete with weeds if topdressed with sulphate of ammonia at the rate of 5 pounds per 1000 square feet of lawn.

Cheaper Heifer Ration

Dairy Heifers can be raised to first calving at much less cost by feeding large quantities of high-quality forage with plenty of legume content and much less milk and grain than customary, USDA research shows.

Heifers fed this way at Beltsville, Md., grew normally without receiving milk beyond 60 days or grain beyond 9 months. That took only 560 pounds of concentrates. Calves frequently are fed whole or skim milk up to 6 months and concentrates plus roughage until calving. That takes 2,000 to 3,500 pounds of grain.

Quality roughages that give good growth in these tests, when fed with alfalfa were: corn silage, timothy hay and corn silage, ladino - bromegrass hay and corn silage, and timothy hay plus ladino orchardgrass hay. Alfalfa alone met the need.

Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station recently made similiar findings.

Activity of Legion Auxiliary

The American Legion Auxiliary, Unit 104, feels very proud of its accomplishments during the past year, and would like to acquaint the general public with some of its activities and the way it spends its funds.

Each year the auxiliary participates in the Poppy sales, selling poppies and putting up a window display. The money that was realized from the 1956 sales was spent as follows:

Rehabilitation per capita	27.20
Entertainment of veterans in hospitals	10.00
Department Child Welfare	10.00
Gift Shop in Veterans Hospitals	45.00
Hospital Emergency Fund	15.00
Hospital Travel Fund	15.00
Local Child Welfare	9.75
Purchase of Poppies for 1957 use	55.00
	$186.93

In November the unit entertained the Appomattox Teachers' Association at an informal tea. The unit helped with the Heart Drive, and gave $5.00 to it. It also contributed $5.00 to the March of Dimes, $5.00 to the Red Cross, $5.00 to "Care," and $5.00 to Crusade for Freedom, as well as $15.00 to a local child in hospital in need of funds. Two of its members are leaders of the Brownie Troop, to which the unit contributed $57.50. It will sponsor a girl to Girl State this year at the cost of $25.00, and will furnish the transportation and that of the girl sponsored by the Woman's Club. The unit has given a copy of the book, "Thoughts for Johnny" by Jan Stuart to both county and high school library, at the cost of $7.00. Two seniors were presented with the American Legion school award, and their names engraved on a plaque in the high school library. In addition to its operating expenses and the above-named amounts, it has made the following contributions:

National Child Welfare Foundation	5.00
Patrick Henry Boys Plantation	15.00
Kate Waller Barrett Loan Fund	5.00
Money for a party at McGuire's Hospital	25.00

The unit attempts to live up to its motto, "Service - not self," and to contribute to all phases of community life.

Livestock Marketing Study

During the summer the experiment station will conduct a study on livestock marketing in segments of each county. Farmers living on the south side of Route 727 may expect a visitor who will be gathering information relative to this question.

Objectives of the study are to: (1) inventory the marketing information available to the livestock industry; (2) determine the additional information needed to improve efficiency of pricing livestock and dressed meats; (3) develop methods of making this marketing information available.
